

Remarkable recent photographs, brought to this country in person by the photographer, of Friedrich Wilhelm von Hohenzollern, former Crown Prince of Germany, now a recluse in his exile on the Isle of Wieringen, Holland. The ex-Crown Prince has aged rapidly and bears the marks of dissipation. His wife, ex-Crown Princess Cecilie, is suing him for divorce on the ground of extreme cruelty. Below—The modest cottage which houses Friedrich Wilhelm in his forced retreat. It is expected that he will stand trial, with the Kaiser, his father, for responsibility for the war.

Left—President-Elect Epitacio Pessoa of Brazil, with his wife and daughter, photographed at the Waldorf-Astoria, in New York, before leaving for Washington. Dr. Pessoa's visit to this country after his European tour goes far to cement the friendship between the two great republics of North and South America.

The great Handley Page in a test flight at Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, where she awaits favorable weather for her "hop-off" on her transatlantic voyage. Her pilots, Vice-Admiral Mark Kerr (2d pilot, right) and Major H. G. Brackley, (1st pilot, left), hope to beat the time record established by the history-making Vickers-Vimy.

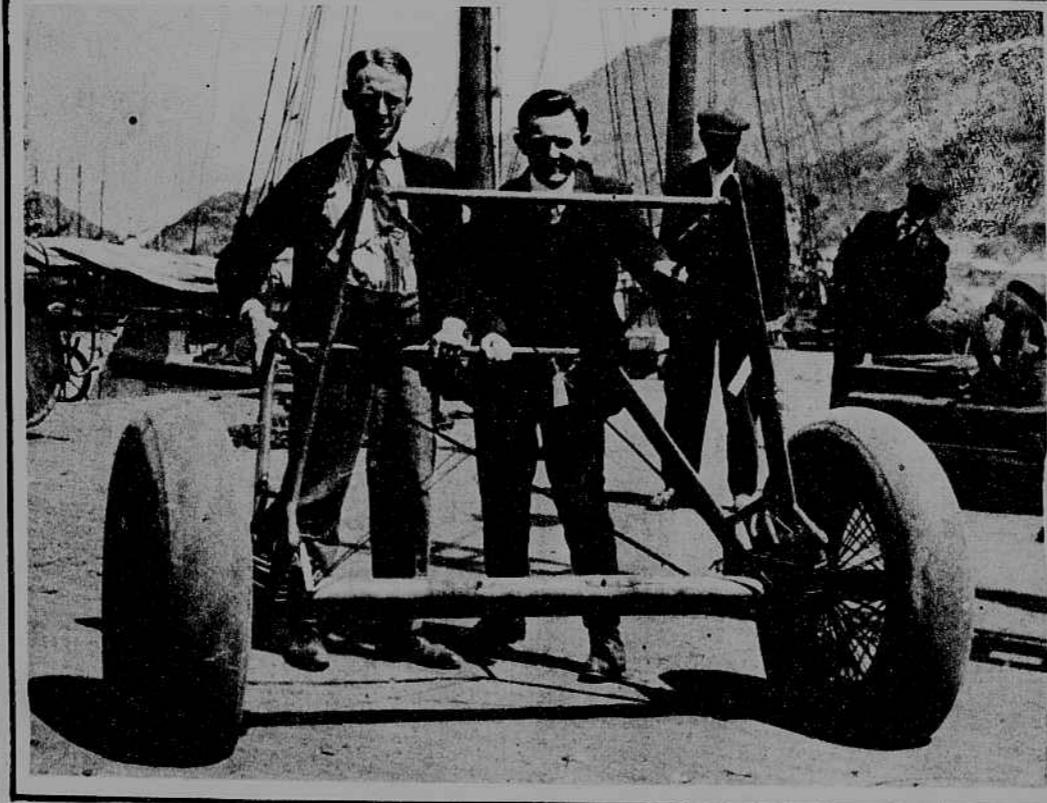

Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer, former United States Alien Property Custodian, in academic robe and mortar-board at the Georgetown University commencement exercises, where he received the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws.

The tiny Sopwith 'plane' in which Hawker and Grieve made their gallant attempt to wing the Atlantic, salvaged at sea after its forced descent to the waves, is brought to London and hoisted to the roof of the famous Selfridge department store for exhibition. Below—The wheels of the Sopwith, courageously dropped on the "hop-off" in order to lighten the 'plane, are found at sea off the coast of Newfoundland and salvaged.

Admiral William Snowden Sims, president of the Naval War College, who delivered an address at the 219th commencement of Yale University last week. The university conferred upon him the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws.

Right—Miss Anita Loos and Mr. John Emerson, collaborators in many successful screen plays for the Talmadge sister stars, were married last week at Bayside, L. I., summer home of Norma Talmadge. Mr. and Mrs. Emerson were caught by the photographer in friendly alliance with Constance and Norma.
